Monday morning at Springfield, Mass. James Beebe Smith, city editor of the Republican, was taken for a burglar by his brother-in-law, Royal B. Sturtevant, who shot him dead.

The visible supply of wheat and corn last Saturday was, respectively, $23,850,475 and 11,254,430 bushels, being a decrease since the last report of 1,420,250 bushels of wheat and 829,431 bushels of corn.

It is proposed to send the four new steel cruisers—the Chicago, Boston, Yorktown and Atlanta—on a flying trip around the world, just to let the nations of the earth see that Uncle Sam has a navy and test the quality of the ships.

The Union Iron Works, of San Francisco, may take justifiable pride in the announcement that the Charleston promises to be the fastest steel cruiser afloat. This is not necessarily due to the glorious colors of California.

The treasury surplus, considering its dimensions last year, is not very large. In May, 1888, it amounted to about $116,000,000, while it is about 55 now. However, it has been growing recently, and the chances are that it will come near the $60,000,000 mark by June 1.

Postmaster General Wanamaker thinks it wiser to improve the postal service than to establish one cent postage. Why cannot the country have both these benefits? Mr. Wanamaker can make a rare reputation by bringing this about, and he will find public sentiment behind him every time.

Pension Commissioner Tanner says that not less than 10,000 honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the Union army and navy are still living to-day in almshouses. When the commissioner says he means to do what he can to right this wrong, we believe he will have the sympathy of every good citizen. This need not mean extravagance. The country is rich enough to be just to the men who fought to save it.

The cruiser Charleston is reported to have made 17 knots with 101 revolutions. This was done under unfavorable conditions. It is probable that no one then one trial trip will be required before the contractor's work can be accepted, as the best results under forced draft cannot be secured off-hand with new machinery. There are strong grounds for confidence that the Charleston will exceed 18 knots and be the fastest large cruiser in the American navy.

A Presbyterian church in Pittsburg has just secured a soprano from Chicago by offering her $2,000 a year, which is $500 a year more than she has been receiving. It is said that a few old fogies in the church wanted to disperse with a soprano and give the $2,000 a year to the poor and needy; but the idea was not entertained for a moment. This is not the largest salary ever paid to a chorister in the country, but it is said to be the largest salary paid to any singer at the present time.

To-day South Dakota will take the first formal step toward entering the Union since the passage of the enabling act. Delegates will be elected to the convention which is to meet on July 4, and a vote will be taken on the adoption of the so-called Sioux Falls constitution. Forced at last by public opinion and by the hope of saving something out of the wreck of party prospects in the new states, the democrats in congress subjected the people of South Dakota to several unnecessary and even absurd conditions of admission, but their temper is such that they will make short work of these last obstacles.

As anticipated, Governor Hill, of New York, on Monday vetoed the so-called Sexton electoral reform bill on the grounds, first, the requirement that none but an officially printed ballots shall under ordinary circumstances be voted; second, the requirement that each ticket shall contain the names of all the candidates of all the parties and parts of parties, and irresponsible combinations pretending to be a party, who choose to certify that they have made a nomination. The governor says these provisions are cumbersome, would be ineffective, and are unconstitutional.

Mr. Mobley, clerk of the house committee on elections of the Fifty-first congress, is diligently at work in arranging, printing and docketing the papers received in the contested election cases which will claim the attention of the committee during the Fifty-first congress. These papers together with exhibits in the sixteen cases which have already been certified to the clerk of the house, are very voluminous, requiring not less than 250 packages to contain them. Of the sixteen cases on file all but three come from the southern states. Indiana furnishes one—that of Posey versus Parrott from the first district; Connecticut presents one, that of Seymour versus Mills, from the fourth district; and Maryland adds her quota in the cases of Mull versus Campion from the fifth district; Virginia and Mississippi each furnish three cases—Virginia those of Waddill versus Wise in the third; Langston versus Venable in the fourth; and Brown versus Buchanan in the ninth district; and Mississippi those of Obalvers versus Morgan in the second;

Hill versus Catchings in the third, and Kernaghan versus Hooker in the fifth districts.

THE POWER OF HUMOR.

How Ingersoll Works to Do Away With Jurymen's Prejudice Against Him. "I would never engage Col. Ingersoll for a counselor," said a business man the other day. "I should feel that the very prejudice against him on account of his religion would lose the case with the average jury."

The remark calls to mind the uniform practice of the orator before a jury, a practice adopted at the outset of his career at the bar. He realizes that conscientious if not conscious prejudices might quietly work against him, particularly in places where he was not personally known, and so his first object everywhere has been to overcome any secret religious feeling against him.

"There was but one thing that could serve this purpose," he said to a Philadelphia friend long ago, according to the inquirer of that city, "and that was humor. There is only one sort of argument that will completely untie the knots in a stubborn, bigoted brain, and that is humorous argument. No fallacy can withstand the force of humor, though the facts in the universe would not budge it. There is an insidious, undermining power about humor that leaves nothing for prejudice to stand on. I have taken to it in which I appeared as a pleader there were twelve men on the jury who hated me so religiously that I thought the best thing I could do for my case was to take a train and leave the state. But I didn't. I said there, and when it came my turn to address the jury they looked at me through their fingers and an address from Mephistopheles himself. I had some good anecdotes in stock and began to weave them into my address one after another. I thought they would hit. The first one was taken with perfect sobriety. After awhile I got an encouraging wrinkle on one old fellow's face. Another wrinkle made several of them grin. I was running short of good things to say, but I felt that I dare not stop speaking until I had made every one of them laugh. So I took a little more time, and before I finished every juror's face had been many times thoroughly wreathed with smiles and the laughter of the crowd in the court room had been cleared repeatedly. I won the case and resolved that to leave a jury, if I could help it, until I had made every man in it take several good, quiet laughs, was a guarantee that I had nothing against me personally—a safeguard against unconscious prejudice."

THE TWO "JOHNNIES."

A Remarkable Incident of an Encounter in the Late War.

The most remarkable case I ever noted of individual friendliness between Northern and Southern soldiers occurred at a battle in the Rapidan. Victims of opposing armies were stationed on either bank of the narrow stream, says a St. Louis writer. Just after dark one night the soldiers were again by the stream. "Hello, Johnny Reb," from a Union man. He was answered in a moment by his opposite sentry with "Hello, Johnny Yank."

Then this colloquy occurred: "Who are you?" "Taylor of company A, First Massachusetts. Who are you?" "Taylor of company E, Fifth Louisiana." "What's your first name?" "Charles E. too." The peculiar coincidence attracted attention from all of the two armies within hearing, and they listened to the story yelled across the river from one army to another on the eve of battle. It developed that they were father and son. The former had opposed his son's marriage to a factory girl, and the son had married just the same. He and his bride had taken the money the wealthy father had allotted him and suddenly disappeared.

Then the father relented, and continued an unavailing search until the war had called him. The son had gone to New Orleans, it transpired, and had gone into business and grown wealthy. He had been imbued with the Southern spirit by his surroundings, and had taken up Southern arms. Next day two boats, under flags of truce, met in the river, and two armies witnessed the reunion. The following morning Charles E. Taylor, Jr., was missing from our command, and we never saw him until after Appomattox, when he walked into camp and told us he had gone over, taken the oath, and gone to the old home, where he had remained with his wife until Lee's surrender made it safe to see his old comrades. His desertion had been to avoid fighting his father.

The Peanut Industry. Speaking of the advocacy of the peanut as a remedy for insanity by Rev. T. B. Lyman, Episcopal Bishop of North Carolina, an expert on the peanut said: "The peanut singly is a light and airy article, but in numbers it is a vast reservoir of agriculture and commerce. Its food properties are great, and a rich, precious oil is in every kernel. The consumption of peanuts is 3,200,000 bushels a season, and the highest production is but 700,000 bushels more. All these peanuts are raised in Virginia, North Carolina, and Tennessee, but the Tennessee production is comparatively small. During the peanut harvest the people, the picnicians, the dogs, pigs, and nearly everything that eats get fat in the land of the peanut. Peanuts are planted at corn-planting time, each kernel produces a running vine like crab grass, and each root develops about twenty pods. When ripe the plow is run through the long soil on a dry day just before frost. The nuts are dried and shocked up like corn to keep dry before housing. When marketed they go to a cleaner, they are put through steam power machinery and polished, after which they are graded according to size and variety. The Virginia nut is the largest and finest."

Why He Went Home Early. Scatterbrains—I didn't have a good time at Bouillon's last night. Quickwit—So I inferred. You went at 11. Was there any trouble? Scatterbrains—Oh, no trouble. But I told Bouillon that his father had the foundation of his fortune by robbing his grandmother, and he kicked me down the stairway. Then I left.

Made Him Feel Comfortable. "Do you know what is the difference between you and myself?" "This community was hurled at a Pittsburgh broker by his better half, who had been sitting up for him, when he arrived at home about 1 o'clock in the morning." "Can't say, my dear," he replied. "What is it?" "You speculate all day, and I 'spec' you late at night."

An Exact Census. Teacher—Can you tell me the population of Wurttemberg? First Scholar—1,881,506. Teacher—Very good; still not quite correct. Does any one else know? Second Scholar—1,881,563. Teacher—That's right. First Scholar—Why, I know that; but we got a little sister yesterday. I thought it would make one more.

Dyspepsia causes depraved blood, which in turn affects every organ and function of the body. As a remedy for these troubles, nothing can approach Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It vitalizes the blood, strengthens the stomach, and corrects all disorders of the liver and kidneys.

BURIED IN THE RUINS.

WIND WRECKS A NEW BUILDING AT TACOMA.

A Dozen Persons Killed Beneath the Falling Walls—Roasted to Death—The Casualty Record.

TACOMA, W. T., May 14.—At 5:38 o'clock last night fifteen or twenty men were at work in a new hotel building being erected for a hotel by Walter Bates, who was acting as his own foreman and clerk of works. Suddenly a tremendous storm came up from the southwest, which struck the building with full force. The structure tottered for a moment, and then collapsed, burying the workmen in the ruins. Those on the spot were paralyzed by the sight of the catastrophe, but the citizens and laborers just returning home from work began to gather around the wrecked building, and hundreds were soon at work endeavoring to rescue the imprisoned men. The first brigade came to the spot as soon as the news had spread down town, and the work of rescue was quickly systematized. In a few minutes sufficient debris had been removed to get at some of the men, and the body of Walter Bates was first taken out. This was followed by two live workmen, who were removed to the hospital, and then a workman named McConnell, a new arrival from Kansas, was found dead. W. H. Snell, who one week ago to-day was elected City Attorney, and who was a son-in-law of Bates, was soon after taken out, so seriously injured that it is feared he can not recover. Then at intervals of fifteen or twenty minutes three other dead bodies were recovered, but those have not yet been identified. The work of removing the debris is still going on, and occasionally the men hear stifled moans proceeding underneath. Besides the workmen who were injured, the Rev. W. A. May, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who stopped to seek shelter from the rain, was severely injured. The building was a frame structure 44 by 103, three stories high, on Tacoma avenue, and four stories on the alley below. The storm had free scope, and coming across from the upper sound, had nothing to intercept its progress till it struck this building on the top of the hill.

Roasted to Death.

DENVER, Col., May 14.—At 10 this morning a freight engine doing switching near Bally Station, thirty-five miles from here, came in collision with a boulder upon the track and was derailed. Fireman Charles Lappan was caught underneath the red-hot fire-box and pinned to the ground. He was horribly crushed. He lay in this position, with his head only out from under the machinery, for an hour, suffering untold agony, no one being able to render him assistance. Just before he expired he begged a brakeman to tell him, and while one-half of his body was roasting from the heat of the engine, directed his will, leaving $15,000 to his two brothers in San Francisco. He gave no instructions regarding his funeral and who he desired to conduct the services. He then offered prayer and died. Several other train men were injured, but not seriously.

Lightning's Strange Freaks.

WILLIAMSBURG, Iowa, May 14.—Lightning struck the barn of Fred Schwartzing, passing down a pole, a portion struck one of the horses Schwartzing was unbiting, and the shock was taken by the horse, going up to the shoulder and burning the hair; thence it passed over the left breast and abdomen and down both legs, burning the shins of his shoes. Schwartzing was knocked down and terribly burned, the horse falling dead upon him. Two other horses were killed, but Schwartzing will recover.

Under Falling Walls.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The east gable of the old high school house, 151 Spruce street, having been torn down to make room for a big business building, fell at noon to-day while seven men were working under it. Two men were killed outright and George Thomas, the foreman of the gang, and one side of his face crushed in and will hardly live.

Two Boys Roasted in a Fire.

NEWARK, N. J., May 14.—Sparker's steel-works, a barrel factory, two frame and two brick houses were burned this morning. The fire was caused by an explosion in the gasoline works through a boy throwing a match on the floor. Two boys in the establishment had their legs roasted from the knees down. Loss about $25,000.

Fell Into the Creek.

RITCHIE COURT HOUSE, W. Va., May 14.—A timber-crafter occupied by Eller Wolf and his family jumped the track yesterday at Bond's creek and the passengers were precipitated into the water, thirty feet below. Mr. Wolf was fatally wounded, and his husband slightly hurt. The lady in Mrs. Wolf's arms escaped unhurt.

Two Brothers Drowned.

CROCKSTON, Minn., May 14.—Andrew and Ole Erickson, brothers, aged 8 and 11 years respectively, were drowned in the river last Saturday afternoon. They fell off some logs on which they were playing, and their father nearly lost his life in an attempt to rescue them.

Fatal Runaway in Dakota.

GRANTON, Dak., May 14.—In a collision caused by a runaway team Saturday Miss Johanna Goodman was killed. Four men were less seriously injured.

ANOTHER BREWERY COMBINE

Great Trust Formed by New York, New Jersey, and English Capitalists. NEWARK, N. J., May 14.—Another brewery combine has been consummated in this city, in which millions of dollars are represented. The breweries are those of Gottfried Krueger and Christina Teft in this city; Peter Hauck in Harrison, Adolph Hupfel in New York, and the Albany Brewing company in Albany, N. Y. It is proposed to issue stock to the amount of $4,750,000, which will be taken by a number of New Jersey, New York, and English capitalists. The title to each of the breweries will pass to the company, but the actual control of the property will remain in the hands of the present owners for about ten years. Part of the payments will be in stock of the new company, but there will be large cash payments. It is said that Mr. Krueger will receive $1,000,000 in cash, while Mr. Hauck is put down for $500,000.

Far Ono, Wis., while the two little sons of Arthur Pine of Waukon were playing in his blacksmith-shop the eldest picked up a gun, pointed it at his little brother, when it exploded, killing the little one instantly. The eldest child was 6 and the younger 3 years of age.

THE ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE.

A Number of Bills Advanced to Second and Third Reading.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 14.—The House Monday evening took up Senate bills on first reading and completed the calendar before the adjournment. The most important was ordering the Senate bill amending the banking law to second reading without reference. It makes the minimum amount of capital in any banks $25,000.

When the adulterated-food bill was reached Mr. Meyer of Cook moved to refer it to the committee on the judiciary. Messrs. Wisner and Mooney both opposed the motion, but it prevailed. It is especially the dairy products of Elgin, and there is a good deal of opposition to it in the House.

The Senate bills amending the fish laws and allowing the approval of partitions in vacation were sent to second reading. Mr. McLaughlin's bill revising the mining laws was partially read a third time and it will pass.

OLD WORLD AFFAIRS.

English Noblemen Treated to a Dose Which Turned Their Stomachs. LONDON, May 14.—No little indignation is felt in polite circles over the descent of the police on the Field club in a fashionable quarter of the town and arrest of three lords for gambling, something that is done in every aristocratic club in London.

The appearance of these noble members of society in a police court this morning excited a sensation. They were treated most leniently by the presiding magistrate and bailed as soon as the formalities could be completed. The noble members were not at all perturbed by the action of the police authorities and denounced it as an outrage. The twenty-four gentlemen who were arrested at the same time were on their way to the opinion that the police were needlessly officious. The general public manifests a disposition to be amused over the affair.

PLOT TO KILL THE CZAR.

A Conspiracy Among Military Officials in St. Petersburg—Many Arrests. LONDON, May 14.—A conspiracy has been discovered among the military officials stationed in St. Petersburg. A large number of those implicated have been arrested. In their possession were found papers which proved that they intended to make an attempt to assassinate the Czar. A number of bombs were also found.

Emperor William and the Strikers.

BERLIN, May 14.—Emperor William will receive a deputation of three of the striking miners from Westphalia to-day, the strike at Pottsdamer is spreading. The strikers are assembling at the pits and adding the streets and menacing the employees at the water works which supply the district. The pit workers at Margaretha have expressed a willingness to resume work on condition that they be protected from the strikers.

To Consult About the Fisheries.

LONDON, May 14.—Sir John A. Macdonald, the Canadian premier, and Sir Charles Tupper, minister of marine and fisheries, are expected here soon to consult with the government on the fisheries question. This is preliminary to reopening negotiations with the United States for a final settlement.

AMONG THE WORKINGMEN.

Interesting Bits of News About What Is Doing in Pittsburgh. PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 14.—The strike of steel-workers at Duquesne, which has caused so much trouble, is almost at an end. A number of skilled men from other cities accepted positions in the mill this morning.

The railroad miners of western Pennsylvania held a convention here to-day and decided to continue the strike for 74 cents per ton. The Pattern-Makers' League of North America met here this morning and will continue for a week. Delegates were present from Boston, Chicago, Kansas City, New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Francisco, Cleveland, Baltimore, Newark, Wilmington, and Birmingham. They will adopt the eight-hour system and will hereafter work by the piece. No orders will be taken on wages.

Mr. Gillig and Mr. Barrett.

New York, May 14.—The suit of Henry E. Gillig, manager of the late American exchange in Europe, brought to secure a share in the profits of the Booth-Barrett combination, was argued to-day in the Supreme court, and decision was reserved. Mr. Gillig claims that in consideration of advances made by the exchange, Lawrence Barrett agreed to give him a share of his income. Mr. Barrett says the account has been paid.

Terre Haute's Oil Boom.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 14.—The oil boom here is assuming big proportions, the exports from the eastern oil regions, who hurried here during the week, have pronounced the oil to be of a superior quality and the well continuing its output with no diminution. There is a rush for land on which to sink wells. Not less than two or three companies are forming, several being inaugurated to sink wells. It is the belief now that gas will also be found.

MR. CURTIS SIX CENTS RICHER.

But Out of That He Must Pay His Own Costs and His Share of The Court Fees.

The Verdict in the Curtis-Helling Ten Thousand Dollar Libel Suit Returned.

"We, the jury duly empaneled to try the issue in the above entitled action, find for the plaintiff and assess his damages at the sum of six cents."

With this verdict the jury in the Curtis-Helling libel suit came out after three hours of deliberation last night. They went to their room at 3:30 and it was nearly seven when they returned. By that time court had adjourned and the verdict was sealed and left in the hands of Foreman J. B. Minor.

When court convened this morning the jury was ready and waiting. The verdict was read and the jurors discharged.

The amount sued for in the case was ten thousand dollars. Judge Bennett charged the jury that if in the article complained of statements sufficient to constitute a libel were found to be true, damages for defamation of character could not be paid. A strong point was made by the defendants of the fact that the plaintiff spent the evening before the robbery with a woman of questionable character.

The fixing of damages at six cents, leaves each party to pay his own costs and court fees. These are estimated to be in the neighborhood of seventy-five dollars.

Once after the jury went out yesterday afternoon they returned for additional fact. It was about six o'clock and the various ballots had shown some of the jurors to be much at sea as to the points involved. The first ballot was understood to have been four for one hundred dollars and eight for six cents. Then one of the first four went up to five hundred dollars but speedily came down to the first figure. After two hours voting some of the jurors became reckless and one man astonished his companions in misery by putting in a ballot for ten thousand dollars.

When the jury came out at six o'clock part of the testimony was read over a second time. After that the disagreement as to ballots was speedily settled, and the six cent ballot was agreed upon.

Mr. Curtis seemed much surprised when he learned of the amount awarded him this morning.

"It will not rest here," he said, as he stepped on the 9:30 train for Chicago.

"The case will be carried to the supreme court at once."

CHARLES D. SMITH LEAVES JANEVILLE FOR OTHER LANDS.

Charles D. Smith, who surprised his friends three weeks ago by coming down town with a large lump on his head and claiming to have been seen bagged, left the city today.

Mr. Smith had been attending Valentre Brother's school. When he reported his head bagging he claimed to have lost a new hat and fifteen dollars in cash. The lump over his ear that he carried in evidence was so big that he wore his dicky-bird cap on the lump or on his head whichever happened to be most convenient.

To-day the swelling had gone down and Charles D. bid Janesville farewell.

"I am going to Australia," he said, and when I come back next fall I will go to work in Louisville."

MAY GET FIFTY THOUSAND.

BUT BELIEF MUST RAISE TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS FIRST.

An effort was begun at a meeting in Beloit last night to raise the sum of $10,000 as an academy fund, which will secure for Beloit college a $25,000 academy building. A Chicago gentleman has promised to give $25,000, provided Beloit citizens will raise the other sum which they are likely to do. The need of an academy building is very great. It was announced last night that another Chicago gentleman has agreed to give the college $10,000, if a like amount can be raised within a few months. This would give it a first class endowment, and there is every hope that the full amount will be raised.

A VISIT FROM THE REGULARS.

IMPORTANT NEWS COMES TO COL. GOLDIN THIS MORNING.

Col. T. W. Goldin received from Chicago this morning a letter that Wisconsin militia men have been waiting for anxiously. It contained word that regular army troops would visit the state during the summer and that Camp Douglas would be used for the department and division rifle competitions.

Efforts to bring about this step have been making ever since the Camp Douglas range was first laid out. The bringing of a competition between regular army troops into the state so that Wisconsin militia men could watch and gain information, was recognized as of great value.

"All we want," said Governor Board, "is permission to sit on the fence and watch you fellows shoot."

There was general fear, however, that the scheme would fall through, as it did last year. Consequently Col. Goldin smiled a smile of rejoicing this morning when the following letter from Lieut. Philip Reade, inspector of rifle practice, Chicago, Ill., arrived:

"Chicago, Ill., May 13th, 1889—9:00 a. m.—Secretary of War Proctor has just said to me: 'I will be glad to do something for Wisconsin. Get General Schofield to recommend your Camp Douglas scheme as a place for the Division rifle competition, and I will approve.'"

"9:15 a. m.—General Schofield has just said to me: 'I can see objections to Camp Douglas as a place for a Department competition, because there would be too much familiarity with the regulars, if any, of the range when the Division competition came off; but you can tell General Crook that if he will resurrect the letter of Governor Board, dated March 21st—just shown me by you—and forward it approved, I now see no reason for withholding my approval.'"

"9:30 a. m.—General Crook has just told me that he will gladly approve the application; that he is glad that an unfair decision of last year is now to be smoothed away."

"9:45 a. m.—General Crook is happy in congratulating the Badger State."

So am I.

IN REMOVAL.

Died, April 24th, 1889, Lamira Lacey the wife of Colonel Henry Porter Lacey, and daughter of Major Samuel Lacey and Ruth Chase Sigourney, born at Cambridge, New York, July 24th, 1802. When five years old her father moved to Bennington, Vt. Accompanying her parents in 1818, to what was then known as Biga, Genesee Co., New York, but in the subsequent division, as Chili, Monroe county. According to the custom of that period, she rode on a pillion behind her father, most of the distance, a journey considered in those days, a great undertaking.

United in marriage to Henry P. Culver, March 23d 1820. Survived in Chili until 1835, when the family moved to Monroe Falls, in the same county, sixteen miles from Rochester.

Henry P. Culver died at Janesville, Wis., March 24th, 1869; Samuel H. Culver died at Janesville, Wis., Oct. 20th, 1866. Charles P. Culver died at San Antonio, Texas, April 13th, 1879. All were buried at this place.

The oldest child, Cordelia Sigourney, wife of Judge O. C. Pratt, now a resident of San Francisco, Cal., died at Union City, Michigan, October 16th, 1842. In 1813 Mr. and Mrs. Culver, two sons, Samuel Henry and Charles Porter Culver, and daughter, Harriet L., moved to Janesville, Wis.

Of her parents' family of ten children, only Mrs. Thomas Akers, of Kalamazoo, Michigan, and Samuel Sigourney Lacey, of Marshall, Michigan, aged respectively 81 and 73 years, survive her.

Mrs. Culver was present at the organization of the Congregational church of this place, and a charter member.

A sincere christian, a devoted wife and mother, a loving and true friend.

"To live in hearts we leave behind is not to die."

DO YOU BEGIN TO FEEL HUNGRY?

Then Just Take a Glance Among The Good Things That Janesville Can Show.

Milwaukee and Main Streets Already Lined With Summer Fruits.

"See here!" shouted the Prize Strawberry to the grocer, as that gentleman heaped up each box in the day's shipment of fruit this morning. "See here, sir! you leaving me a good ways from the bottom. My older brother was in the top layer of the box that came in last week, and there weren't two berries between him and the bottom. Can a man give full quarter in May and hold his job?"

The grocer seemed to have the opinion that he could and the day's quotations backed him up in the belief. Illinois berries of unusually good quality went into Janesville short cakes to-day at twelve and thirteen cents a quart.

"Just now the berries come from Markanda," said the grocer as he finished filling the boxes. "After little shippers will get up into the middle of the state and then prices will be higher. But while we get them as cheap as we do to-day it doesn't cost much to give people their full money's worth."

"What fruit will be in next?"

"Well, here are some choice cherries—California though, and we begin to get figures on blackberries."

"How about vegetables?"

"Just look along the street. You can find pretty nearly anything you want. Green peas are beginning to come in from Tennessee and string beans are cheap enough for any one. Cucumbers, cabbage and tomatoes are still from Florida, New Orleans and Mobile, and the prices aren't bad. Potatoes? Yes, they come a little high but then that gives the farmer with a cellar full of last year's crop a chance to get even for losing his tobacco."

Persons wishing to improve their memory or strengthen their power of attention, should send to Prof. Loicette, 257 Fifth avenue, New York, for his prospectus post free, as advertised in another column.
